By The Associated Press

Earthquakes hit Iran, the Philippines, Greece and Japan and one was reported in China during the weekend and today. A volcano erupted in Indonesia. Casualties reported were 17 dead and 32 injured in northeast Iran.

A duty officer at the National Earthquake Information Center in Golden, Colo., said he believed there was no connection among the weekend quakes.

The Iranian quake occurred Sunday morning (11:01 p.m. EST Saturday) and registered 6.2 on the Richter scale. Most of the casualties were reported in the mountain village of Vandik, 400 miles northeast of Tehran, where all of the 150 mudbrick houses collapsed.

At least 10 more tremors were reported in the area today and another at Lorestan, in southwest Iran, the national radio and television said. No further casualties or damage was reported.

The Hong Kong observatory reported a quake in southwest China early Sunday morning (1:07 p.m. EST) measuring 6.3 on the Richter scale. The observatory said the epicenter was about 970 mile west-northwest of Hong Kong and about 205 miles northwest of Kuming. There was no confirmation from the Chinese and no report of casualties or damage.

A quake measuring 6.3 on the Richter Scale shook the eastern half of Mindanao island in the southern Philippines early today (12:11 p.m. EST Sunday), and a mild quake was felt in western Mindanao 3½ hours later, but there was no report on casualties or damage.

Philippine officials described the tremors as an aftershock of the Moro Gulf quake in August that killed at least 3,000 persons and left 3,000 more missing, many from tidal waves that swept the coastline after the main quake.

Tidal wave warnings were issued by the government observatory following the earthquake today, but no waves have been reported.

The Philippine government said it had flown 5,000 pounds of relief goods, including medicine, to northeast Mindanao.

The epicenter of the quake was 530 miles southeast of Quezon City, about 15 miles off-shore of the province of Surigao del Sur.

Five quakes jolted Salonika, the capital of northern Greece, Sunday night and this morning. Most of the city's half a million people spent the night out of doors, but police said there were no casualties and no serious damage.

The most severe of the shocks had a reading of 3.4 on the Richter Scale. Amateur radio operators added to the panic with broadcasts of rumors of heavy damage in the suburbs. Long lines of cars left the city despite government pleas to everyone to return home.

A weak earthquake shook Tokyo and part of northern Japan today, but there were no reports of damage or casualties.

12 hurt in accidents

Twelve persons were injured in nine area traffic accidents Sunday, according to the highway patrol, which reported all but one were single-vehicle accidents.

Gordon C. Hill Jr., 50, of Sikeston was seriously injured in an accident at 3:20 p.m. half a mile north of Clines Island on Route N.

The patrol said Hill was traveling south at a high rate of speed when he lost control of a pickup truck which ran off the road, struck a driveway and overturned several times.

He was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Three persons were injured in an accident at 1:15 a.m. on Route P half a mile west of Arab.

The patrol said a car driven west by Karen S. James, 23, of Marble Hill ran off the right side of the highway which had a six-inch drop due to resurfacing. The driver lost control of the vehicle which veered back across the highway, then ran off the left side and overturned.

The driver and a passenger, Janice M. Long, 19, of Advance, received minor injuries. Another passenger, Roger D. Mayberry, 21, of Zalma, suffered moderate injuries. All three were taken to Southeast Missouri Hospital at Cape Girardeau.

Daniel Robert Butler, 21, of Mehlville suffered moderate injuries in an accident on Route JJ five miles south of Arcadia at 3 a.m. when his southbound pickup truck ran off the road and struck a tree broadside. The patrol said vehicle was cut in half just in front of the fire wall.

Butler was taken to Arcadia Valley Hospital at Pilot Knob.

At 5:30 a.m. on Highway 91 in the city limits of Morley, an eastbound station wagon driven by Kenneth William Long, 37, of Morley, rounded a curve at a high rate of speed and ran off the left side of the road and struck a tree.

He was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital for treatment of moderate injuries.

Two Steele men received moderate injuries in a one-car accident at 12:15 a.m. on Route NN one mile south of Gobler.

Willie G. Ray Jr., 22, lost control of his southbound car which struck a bridge railing.

Ray and a passenger, Henry Dunn, 43, received injuries and were taken to Pemiscot County Medical Center at Hayti.

A Mine La Motte teen-ager received minor injuries in a one-car accident at 10:15 a.m. on Route F four miles south of Marquand.

The patrol said the accident occurred when a tie rod apparently broke, puncturing a tire on a car driven south by Larry G. Troffer, 17, of Fredericktown and causing the driver to lose control. The car ran off the road down an embankment and struck a tree.

A passenger, Genise E. White, 16, of Mine La Motte, suffered minor injuries and was taken to Madison County Memorial Hospital at Fredericktown.

A one-car accident at 2 a.m. on Interstate 55 three miles north of Scott City caused minor injuries to a passenger, Mark Dorris, 26, of St. John.

The patrol said a tire blew out on a car driven south by Randy Patva, 25, of St. Louis, causing him to lose control. The car ran off the road and down an embankment.

Dorris was taken to St. Francis Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

A two-car accident at 12:05 p.m. on Route A, at the intersection of a gravel road two and a half miles north of Bragg City in Pemiscot County, caused minor injuries to one of the drivers.

The patrol said a car driven north by Clarence Murry Sexton, 75, of Bragg City failed to yield the right-of-way and was struck in the left front by a car driven east by Bonnie Bluebel Kegley, 65, of Bragg City.

Sexton received minor injuries and was taken to Dunklin County Memorial Hospital at Kennett.

A Sikeston woman received minor injuries at 7 p.m. on an unmarked road one mile east of Miner when her northbound car struck a cow.

Mary Ann Debo, 24, was treated and released at Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Mayors call for aid for jobs, develop plan

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayors of the nation's largest cities today formulated a new urban battle plan calling for immediate emergency aid for jobs and creation of an Urban Development Bank.

The mayors' urban strategy will be presented to Congress and President-elect Jimmy Carter with a stern warning that federal urban programs "are almost a nightmare of confusion."

Newark, N.J., Mayor Kenneth Gibson, president of the U.S. Conference of Mayors, told 100 city officials here that "the Carter Administration must set a national tone of concern for urban America."

Gibson said mayors should have access to

Carter, suggesting it could be "through a vice president as an urban ombudsman or a domestic council in the White House with real urban clout."

"The issue is to make the federal bureaucracy responsive," Gibson said. In an address that ended a two-day conference session to outline urban priorities, Gibson called on Carter to develop "a coherent national urban policy that includes consolidation and cohesion" of federal grant programs, which he said number 1,800.

"Federal urban programs are now almost a nightmare of confusion," Gibson said.

The cornerstone of what the conference is calling a "new national urban investment policy" is creation of the Urban Development Bank, which would provide low-cost loans to businesses for expansion and location in the cities and to city governments for economic projects.

The mayors also will seek an emergency countercyclical jobs program "to shore up hardpressed cities in deep fiscal trouble."

Gibson also said Congress and the Carter Administration would have to provide "additional federal money" to aid troubled cities.

Gibson did not say how much money the plan would cost.

Mayor Coleman Young of Detroit in a television interview criticized Carter's representative here, Howard Samuels of New York, who was an undersecretary of commerce under Lyndon Johnson.

Sikes submits resignation

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Alfred C. Sikes, director of the state Department of Consumer Affairs, Regulation and Licensing, submitted his resignation today effective Jan. 10.

Sikes, who was Christopher S. Bond's campaign manager in 1972, said he would be joining a firm called Radio Ozark Enterprises, a Springfield firm which owns and manages broadcast properties.

The day Sikes set as the effective date of his resignation is inauguration day in Missouri, when Joseph P. Teasdale will take over the helm of state government from Gov. Bond.

"I am pleased with the accomplishments made in the Department of Consumer Affairs and the independent recognition it has received," Sikes said. "The department did not exist a little over two years ago. Today, according to a state Senate committee and its staff coordinator who is director of the Center for Public Administration Programs at Western Michigan University, the Department is a high quality organization. I leave state government satisfied I have done my best," Sikes said.

The department, known as CARL, was formed in 1974 during state reorganization. It is the umbrella agency which directs the operations of individual state regulatory boards.

Sikes was the first head of the department. Prior to that he was an assistant attorney general.

Arnold man dies in fall under wheels of combine

RISCO — Several discrepancies about the death of Jerome Baker, 36, of Arnold appeared in a story published Sunday in The Daily Standard.

Baker was killed in an accident at 2:40 p.m. Saturday on the Planter Gin Co. farm, located half a mile south of town on Highway 153, when he apparently tried to climb onto the ladder of a combine and fell between the wheel and header.

It was incorrectly stated that Baker was working behind a combine operated by Donnie Earl Dell, which backed over him.

According to corrected information given to The Daily Standard by Dell and New Madrid County Deputy Sheriff Willis "Bo" Wingo, Baker was not an employee of the farm. Both said Baker and a friend, Junior Deprow, had driven into the field in Baker's car apparently to shoot rabbits.

Deprow told officers the combine was being driven away from where the men were and that he saw Baker run toward the back of the combine.

Dell said he did not see the men and that when he felt a jolt, he thought he had hit a chunk. When he stopped the combine, Baker's body was laying at the back of it.

Baker was born May 1, 1940 in Lilbourn to Mr. and Mrs. George Baker of Risco, who survive. He was an employee of American Can Co. in St. Louis.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by his widow, Patsy Kellick Baker of Arnold; two daughters, Tammy and Dina Baker of the home; one brother, Troy Baker of St. Louis; and two sisters, Patricia Medlin of Chicago and Marjorie Baker of Risco.

Services were conducted at 2 p.m. today in Ponder Funeral Home at Lilbourn by the Rev. Gene Lancaster.

Burial followed in Mounds Park Cemetery near Lilbourn.

Economists urge changes in anti-inflation policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A private international conference of economists is urging the world's industrial nations to reverse the anti-inflationary "slow-growth" policies agreed upon by President Ford and six other heads of state at a summit conference in Puerto Rico last June.

The economists ended a three-day meeting at the private Brookings Institution Sunday. They said they think the Puerto Rico policy must be reversed because they feel the economic "pause" appears to be more than a temporary phenomenon.

"The slowdown is gaining so much momentum it is scaring everybody," said one participant.

The economists called on the big-three industrial nations — the United States, West Germany and Japan — to become "engines of world economic recovery" by expanding their economic activity.

Philip H. Tresize of Brookings, who chaired the conference, said the outlook is

He singled out the big-three industrial powers as "locomotive" countries that can pull smaller ones along to a healthier economic climate. He said that to accomplish this the industrial giants have an obligation to stimulate their own economies at home.

The 17 economists, from the United States, Canada, Japan, Germany, Great Britain, France and Italy, argued that the big three possess enough idle resources of plant capacity and labor to permit "a strengthening of economic expansion without a significant risk of accelerating inflation."

This cure for international economic ills was the prescription adopted in November 1975 at a summit meeting in Rambouillet, France, and abandoned in Puerto Rico for

Dexter girl shot in St. Louis

ST. LOUIS — A 14-year-old Dexter girl remains hospitalized at City Hospital in St. Louis after what St. Louis police described as an accidental shooting Tuesday.

The girl was identified as Beth Blount, who suffered serious gunshot wounds in the left shoulder. Marvin Smith, 18, also of Dexter, was originally arrested for the shooting, but was released when the girl and other witnesses to the shooting declared that the shooting was accidental. The incident occurred at a home on Chippewa Street in St. Louis.

Smith and other eyewitnesses said that he was playing with the rifle when it accidentally discharged and the bullet struck the girl.

5 thefts reported in Sikeston

The Public Safety Department reported five thefts Saturday and Sunday.

Don Yarbro of Lilbourn reported the theft of a citizens band radio valued at $200 from his car while it was parked at Homestead Distributing Co., between 8:30 and 9 p.m. Saturday.

Two tires and wheels and a hubcap were reported stolen from Sikeston Auto Salvage, 1615 W. Malone Ave. The tires and wheels were valued at $100 and the hubcaps at $20.

Mary Helen Garrison, 809 Davis Blvd., told officers she received a call from the Mingo Job Corps Center near Puxico that someone from the Jobs Corps had taken her car and driven it to the center. The car was taken sometime Saturday or Sunday.

David Williams, 136 Fourth St., reported the theft of a .22-caliber rifle from his pickup truck between 5 and 7 p.m. Saturday. The theft occurred while the truck was parked down the street from his house.

Robert Charles Wright of New Madrid reported the theft of a CB radio valued at $250 and a microphone worth $30 from his car while it was parked at Kingsway Mall between 7 and 9:20 p.m. Saturday.

HEARTS ARE TRUMPS

My eldest son John, 14, was standing in front of the magistrate on a charge of purse-snatching, but I could not see him. I am blind. The purse had had $150 in it, and John had left home and spent it all in three days.

My wife and I were a little late for the preliminary hearing. When we entered the courtroom, she told me that our pastor Father O'Malley was standing next to John. I heard Father say, "Your Honor, this is the first time John has ever been in trouble, and I want to help him if I can. I know this offense is serious, but he's an honor student in our school, and an altar boy, and he has a paper route. If it is agreeable to the court and the plaintiff, I have with me enough money to make restitution."

Before the judge answered, a voice from the rear of the courtroom said, "Your Honor, I'm not Catholic. I'm a Rabbi. But I believe Father O'Malley, and I have confidence in this young man."

The judge called the plaintiff, the Rabbi, my wife and me to the bench. After a short consultation, the plaintiff was reimbursed.

I was deeply touched by the kindness of the two clergymen, who showed me that charity transcends religious differences. And these men's faith in John was justified. Today he is 21, and studying for the priesthood.

ACCESS TO HANDGUNS

A FEDERAL study of handguns taken from alleged criminals or found at crime scenes adds to the already overwhelming evidence of the need for much stricter controls over the selling and purchase of these weapons.

One-fourth of the guns, the study said, were bought from legal dealers by convicted felons or persons with arrest records. Federal law makes this illegal, but doesn't require that the identification of the customer be verified. So false identifications are used.

This doesn't work in Tennessee. By state law, dealers must send a thumbprint and application of a prospective handgun buyer to a law-enforcement agency before the sale is made. A 15-day waiting period is provided for while the identification and record of the customer are checked out.

A bill before Congress would establish similar restrictions for all states. The best way to control the proliferation of handguns and their use in crime remains a ban on their sale. But the bill would be some safeguard.

Willie was an easy mark for salesmen and had bought too many items on credit. His paycheck wasn't enough to meet all the payments and most of them were overdue. After numerous dunning letters a creditor made a personal visit to collect the money due.

"Willie, you haven't made a payment on your bill in six months."

"Yeah, I know, but your name ain't come up yet."
"Name hasn't come up? You got our notices didn't you?"
"Yeah, but your name ain't come up yet."
"What do you mean?"
"Mister, it's like this. I put all the guys names I owe money to into a hat. I shake the hat and pick out a name. And that's the one I pay. So far, your name ain't come up yet!"

FEDERAL PENSION COSTS

After reading the article written by Sid Taylor, National Taxpayers Union research director which was in the record of the Senate Budget Committee hearings on the government's pension programs, we are alarmed by soaring costs and deficits in Federal retirement, pension and annuity programs.

As of March, 1976, and even on a static assumptions basis (eliminating future pay raises and CPI pension increases), the unfunded liability or actuarial deficit for these programs now totals over $499 billion.

In actuarial terms, the U.S. Government is now bankrupt. There is no tax-base or revenue source available to reduce these massive unfunded liabilities. Pension fund deficits at $499 billion are above and apart from our national debt—now around $600 billion. The issue is no longer "collective bargaining" by organized labor and military lobbies in Washington, but rather "collective solvency" for our national economy. The American taxpayers can no longer afford to support a Federal pay-pension machine that is indexed and computerized to automatically escalate costs and deficits each year.

Collective bargaining for government pay and pensions has become a two-legged stool. Labor unions and agency officials sit down at the table each year and make billion dollar contracts at taxpayers' expense. Both parties in the negotiations have a vested interest in pay and pension increases. The taxpayer is seldom if ever represented. The two-legged stool of collective bargaining is about to topple—for economic reasons.

There are not enough taxpayers in America to pay the bill. The U.S. Postal Service is a classic example of collective bargaining run amuck. About 85 per cent of the deficit-ridden Postal System budget is now consumed by pay and pensions. A similar situation has developed in the defense budget. Military payroll is eating up combat firepower. Around 1970, the big labor unions and the Pentagon Lobby in Congress teamed up (Federal Pay Comparability Act) to raid the U.S. Treasury each year through endless automatic pay and pension increases. A Pentagon General now has an annual compensation (pay plus benefits) of around $54,611.

The case of the woman welfare recipient in Chicago who allegedly used 80 names, 30 addresses, 12 Social Security cards plus veteran's benefits from four nonexistent husbands to collect over $100,000 tax-free is merely one example of "how to beat the system." However, the real problem in Federal annuity programs is that there is no "system." The benefits are largely up for grabs. The average D.C. Government police or fire officer who retired last year will be paid $699,000 in pension funds over his or her lifetime for a pension fund contribution of about $11,400. Military retirees are even more expensive. They contribute nothing into the military retirement fund ($172 billion deficit) and can retire at age 38 after 20 years of service. A lone military retiree, his dependents and survivors may eventually draw over $1 million in lifetime benefits. To illustrate this point, in pension terms, we are still paying for the Civil War. V.A. checks are still paid to 175 widows and 200 dependents—children of Civil War veterans.

On top of this, we have about 104,000 military retirees (Double Dippers) in Federal Civil Service jobs collecting dual compensation (pay plus pension). Some net as much as $50,000 a year. Ironically, this new breed of "unretired-retired" Federal bureaucrat is not only paid double, but also is double-indexed against the pangs of inflation. We even have 38 Double Dippers now in Congress. This pension windfall (under the Dual Compensation Act of 1964) has cost about $3 billion to date. It is an insult to the American taxpayers.

Today's Federal Bureaucracy (military and civilian) is largely overpaid, overpromoted and consequently overpensioned. Government pay and pension programs have become a Rube Goldberg maze of outdated policies, waste, extravagance, red tape and red ink. Some pension programs are funded, others unfunded, taxed or untaxed. The new "corruption" in government is no longer at the personal level but at the system-legislative levels. The problem is not human behavior but system behavior. Many Federal pension, retirement and annuity programs have become so vast, complicated, costly and confusing as to defy citizen-taxpayer comprehension. Computerized annuity programs may soon automatically and mindlessly spend us into national bankruptcy—in the midst of our Bicentennial Celebration—unless the White House and Congress take action.

GREGORY AND BUTZ
AGREE

From The Kansas City Times
One of the daffiest notions to strike in many a week was that Earl Butz, agriculture secretary, and Dick Gregory, black comedian and civil rights activist, have been out on the circuit preaching the same message: That the Federal Government, big as it is, has not been doing what it promised for the right folks. Perhaps the secretary and the self-styled hunger fighter have more in common than either would admit.

Consider that during a recent visit to Kansas City, Butz lambasted his own department for falling down on the job it is supposed to do. USDA, Butz said, is required by legislation to spend about two thirds of its annual 15-billion-dollar budget on various food and food stamp programs at the expense of traditional roles like oil conservation, plant and animal research and developing marketing opportunities. Food stamps, hot lunches and the rest, Butz urged, should be transferred out of USDA to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

At the same time Gregory, who claims to be running across the country to draw attention to U.S. hunger problems, said in interviews in Liberal and Wichita, Kan., that human nutrition in America should have its own cabinet representation, such as a Department of Food and Nutrition. He would leave "the wheat and the cattle to the secretary of agriculture."

Really now, there isn't too much difference in those opinions. Perhaps the notion isn't so strange after all. At least the two are agreed that the Government, specifically USDA, isn't doing some of the jobs it is supposed to do well enough.

XXX
THE PAST

Money has not been forthcoming to preserve the 1865 Randolph House at Beale and Lauderdale. Now a fire apparently set by vagrants has added to the potential cost of saving this part of Memphis' past.

Perhaps the fire, and the problem in trying to find a way to preserve the Randolph House, at least can serve to spur interest in keeping the bulldozers away from other old sections of inner-city Memphis that are truly part of our city's heritage, whatever low estate they may have fallen to today.

Philadelphia cannot be overly praised for historical preservation. Its expressways and office buildings have trampled down what were some of the finest of Colonial structures. Much that is admired among Philadelphia's historic section is pure reconstruction. But Philadelphia does have Elfreth's Alley, a narrow street with 33 houses dating to about 1630 and lived in continuously to this day.

That point is the one to stress in trying to preserve what remains of 19th Century Memphis. Preservation must be undertaken with the idea of keeping old houses inhabited. Whole neighborhoods need to be refurbished with the primary purpose of turning a profit and bringing in people who are residents, not just passersby who want to look.

That is a challenge the leaders of Memphis, in both politics and the business of property development, either do not recognize or choose to ignore. Memphis is losing steadily as a result.

XXXTHEY MUST
DIE FIRST

Unfortunately, railroads are reticent in installing adequate warning signals at highway and street crossings until a death or sometimes several deaths occur.

The most recent instance of this is at Clarence, where a 5-year-old boy was killed in a car-train crash at an unguarded crossing. It was the second death at that point in a short period, and brought almost immediate action for flashing light signals.

It has always been a mystery why railroads so often refuse to install signals until someone is killed. Aside from the loss of life, which can't be measured in dollars, there is the cost to the railroad company.

Damages for any one death or injury can more than equal costs of signals.

Adequate signals are a protection for the railroad as well as the public.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Behind the Victory:
How Labor delivered the White House to Carter

WASHINGTON — It was late election night, after the professionals realized Jerry Ford would lose, when Jimmy Carter reached for his Atlanta hotel phone and called labor chief George Meany. Talking as the new head of a sovereign state to the old president of another, the man from Plains said thanks for everything. The labor leader took the call at the George Meany Center for Labor Studies in Silver Spring, Md., where he will teach when he retires next year.

Early Wednesday morning President-elect Carter told folks, "I had the best organization any candidate ever had." Damn right.

That organization was labor's and George Meany's. Without it the Georgian would have lost New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Texas to name a few.

There's an understandable passion to talk of and denounce labor's power. But few commentators really understand from whence this extraordinary political strength springs. Organization. It's not the union orators who take a bow up front. It's, for example, literally the more than 100,000 volunteer workers who, like disciplined strike captains, signed up to get out the vote Tuesday. And did.

The strategists who directed them, and who met every other Tuesday for months this year in Meany's office, make Chicago Mayor Richard Daley look like the manager of a college freshman class presidential candidate.

For almost a year now Meany's national AFL-CIO headquarters computer has operated round-the-clock seven days a week, printing AFL-CIO members' names and street locations for those 100,000 volunteers—aided by national unions' full-time organizing staffs on full-time politics. Such as — President Bill Siddell's Carpenters Brotherhood's 300 field organizers.

Some unions rushed field staffs of 600 to 700 into full-time action for the Carter campaign. And when the central AFL-CIO computer ran out of time, the bakers' and machinists, computers were thrown in.

And there was the massive countrywide registration drive, tied in with the Democratic National Committee's own push for new voters, especially Spanish-surnamed, directed by Joe Aragon, paid for by labor. Some 8 million new voters became eligible. Some 10 per cent were Hispanic. Many believe these carried Texas for Jimmy Carter.

When it looked bad for the Democratic candidate in Ohio, state labor federation chief Warren Smith targeted 2,400 Ohio precincts known for low turnout despite a large number of registered unionists. He printed 890,000 newspapers in color. He hit the districts with his own computerized drive. He distributed 600,000 "doorhangers"—come on out and vote, etc. He put on 3,000 election day labor pull-outers. Today Mr. Carter tops President Ford in Ohio by about 702 votes. A switch of some 500 voters would have made the difference. Or the failure of 1,000 unionists to show.

And over in Pennsylvania, when Gov. Carter's speeches were drawing more yawns than supporters, the labor COPE chiefs decided to throw in almost a million dollars to fuel the Democratic machine. It worked.

During the final days when Mr. Carter needed the proverbial shot in the arm, the International Ladies Garment Workers Union leader Sol (Chick) Chaikin, came up with the political hypo—the traditional New York City garment area rally. Some 60,000 people jammed the famed "rag jungle." Some came on their own. Some because it was lunch hour. And most because the dress shops were closed for several hours—at the suggestion of the union.

During the drive from the three-block-long rally to a private hotel conference with other labor chiefs from New York and New Jersey, the candidate murmured over and over again to Chick, "I've never seen so many people."

What of New York state? For over 18 months now Meany, the seafarers' Paul Hall, the longshoremen, the Building and Construction Trades, the teachers and municipal employees, the paper workers, just to mention a few, put together the state's first united COPE machine.

They put young men at the gears. And Mr. Carter' people realized that labor wasn't just an elderly curmudgeon behind cigar smoke. Labor is the Jewish garment retirees, the Irish hard hats, the Italian needle workers, the older women who worked Ma Bell's switchboards in the "Hello Central" days. And New York state labor put out over two million leaflets, telephoned almost half a million families in the state and rolled hundreds of sound trucks through the streets.

That's how you win elections. That's how you get first money—the White House—and become partners in power. For along with the Presidential candidate are washed into Congress legislators with whom President Carter will have to deal. And the new President will learn that labor will broker those deals in return for its own special interest legislation.

So it's worth reporting here what he recently told 11 members of the Georgia Local 226 of the Amalgamated Clothing and Textile Workers Union on his own front lawn. The local had supported him during his first political bid when he won the 14th District state Senate seat, which covers Americus and Plains. He won by 56 votes. The local had delivered.

If it hadn't been for ACTWU Local 226, "I would not have been in politics at all," Jimmy Carter told the 11 unionists.

And 14 years later, if it weren't for the national labor movement, he wouldn't be moving into the White House. In effect, that's what he told Meany during that election night phone conversation.

ON THE OTHER HAND—

By HOWARD FLIEGER

A few weeks ago, this space was devoted to a discussion of the current movement to unionize the American armed forces.

The point was made then — and is re-emphasized now — that military service should not be equated with accepted labor-management practices. The ultimate weapon of labor is the strike, and the idea of a strike by the military, no matter how remote, is intolerable.

That article produced a torrent of mail from readers. Most agreed with the central point, but many argued that the armed forces are being doublecrossed by Congress and the Department of Defense.

That is, indeed, a serious charge.

It is one thing to say that people who volunteer for military service forgo the accepted "rights" of civilian workers. But, in so saying, it should be understood that "management" — in this case Congress and the Government — must keep faith with those they recruit. If that faith is broken it is understandable that servicemen and women will feel cheated by the uniforms they wear.

In line with this thought, a retired Navy officer wrote: "My almost daily discussions with active-duty personnel indicate a deep sense of bitterness, disappointment, resentment and general distrust of both Congress and the Department of Defense. The reasons, I believe, are in part due to the constant erosion of the benefits and entitlements long believed a part of the military man's career."

Another retired officer, an Army colonel, agreed with the idea that a unionized military would be self-defeating from a defense stand-point, but stressed:

"It, of course, must be understood and accepted by each citizen of our great republic that rewards and benefits promised by them through their elected representatives in Congress to those Americans who volunteer to enter our national security forces and accept the discipline of a single command as the defenders of America must be provided exactly as promised."

From a serviceman still on active duty:

"The only reason, and the moving reason, why we in the active military are being forced to not just consider unions but to move toward them is the virtual abandonment of us by our traditional 'father' in Washington, the Congress.

"We never needed unions in the past because Congress was always there to watch out for us and protect us.

"In recent years, Congress has largely abandoned us. They have started removing our compensation in pay and benefits left and right with no trade-off. With no one to look out for us any more, or help us any more, but rather those who should be looking out for us turning out to be the very ones who are destroying us, we have to come up with an alternative protector.

"What can that be but a union?"

Who out of service can say whether these complaints are justified? In a recent speech, the Strategic Air Commander, Gen. Russell E. Dougherty, said:

"We must be on guard not to oversell, as a huckster would, benefits of a service life — by overemphasis on the good pay, health care, vacation benefits, the early retirement and opportunities for travel. These misrepresent our service as one prolonged vacation — and we know it isn't."

Has the military population really been sold a bill of goods by Congress and the Defense Department? Right or wrong, it is obvious many think so, and their complaints should be heeded.

A unionized armed force makes no sense as a front line of national security. But neither does a disgruntled and disillusioned armed force. It is a situation that needs urgent attention by Washington.

DON'T BAN
SMOKE DETECTOR

There are times when the zeal of consumerists to protect everyone from every conceivable hazard borders on the irresponsible, if it does not indeed cross the line.

The Public Citizen Health Research Group, a Ralph Nader organization, has asked the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission to recall ionization type smoke detectors and to ban their further manufacture.

Ionization detectors, which contain a minute amount of radioactive material, are considered to be the most effective kind of smoke detector. They are presently in about four million homes.

If people abandon the protection these detectors afford out of "unjustified apprehension and confusion" caused by the so-called consumer advocates or public interest groups, they could expose their families to death from fire and smoke that claim thousands of victims each year, warns Charles Morgan, president of the National Fire Protection Association.

The facts, he says, blow Public Citizen's case right out of the water.

He cites a Nuclear Regulatory Commission report that annual radiation exposure from daily life activities is 200 times the amount a person would get from an ionization detector — if the person remained within 10 inches of the detector for eight hours a day for a year.

It would take 10 years of such detector exposure to equal the radiation a person received from a single round-trip flight across the United States.

Weigh this in the balance against the fact that an average of 33 people die and 820 are seriously burned in the United States every day of the year.

One sometimes gets the impression that the social dogooders are determined to save us if they have to kill us in the process.

WASHINGTON
MERRY-GO-ROUNDReagan's Last Hurrah
Is Still to Be Heardby Jack Anderson
and Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — Ronald Reagan's great moment, as he came close to displacing an incumbent president before a wildly cheering Republican convention last August won't be his last hurrah. The darling of the conservatives is quietly planning a political comeback.

The plans took focus as Reagan dutifully campaigned for the man who had defeated him for the presidential nomination. At first, he flirted with the idea of forming a third party if President Ford lost the election. But he rejected this idea as impractical.

Instead, he persuaded himself that he could use the GOP framework to restructure the party into a conservative bastion. He has decided to try, therefore, to Reaganize the Republican Party.

Reagan has consoled his plans to a few intimates, who are rarin' to begin the new crusade. "We came out of Kansas City with 3,000 trained workers," one associate told us. "Our lists are intact. We've got tentative meetings in mind for December and January."

One meeting would be held in the West, perhaps Phoenix, the other in the South. "Count on it, Ronald Reagan will be an activist," promised the associate.

Another top aide from the Reagan campaign pointed out that the charismatic former California governor unquestionably is the spiritual leader of the conservatives. Two other national conservative leaders, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., lost a lot of their credibility with conservatives by supporting President Ford at the Republican convention, the aide said.

A third Reagan lieutenant, while not ruling out a final shot at the White House by the 65-year-old Reagan, suggested that they might merely build a base for a younger candidate to pick up the conservative banner. Indeed, our source indicated that a search has already begun for a bright, tough, young conservative whom Reagan might groom for the GOP nomination in 1980.

Reagan's friends told us that his decision to forego a placid private life and return to the political turmoil was reached in the middle of the Ford-Carter campaign.

Reagan made more than 25 campaign appearances ostensibly to help Ford but more pointedly to push conservative Republicans who had risked their political necks to support him against an incumbent.

Reagan sensed that the hysteria of past conservative revivals had been replaced by a more stable affection and trust for their spiritual leader. At the same time, he felt that the president was blurring some of the issues in an appeal to the amorphous middle-of-the-road voters. So Reagan decided to try to give the electorate a cold, clean choice in 1980.

PARTY GIRLS: This is a postscript to the sex-in-Washington scandals. The Republicans use the issue against the Democrats during the campaign. For most of the congressmen who had been caught dallying had been Democrats.

At the Election Night gala for Gerald Ford and Bob Dole, the Republican hordes listened to speeches in the main ballroom of Washington's Sheraton-Park Hotel about the moral decay of the Democratic Congress.

But in the hospitality suites upstairs, visiting Republican bigwigs freely partook of the same moral decay. We sent our reporter Howard Rosenberg to check out the reports of partying in the Republican bedroom suites.

Posing as a campaign celebrant from the Midwest, he followed the joyous sounds to a lush suite where a party was hosted by a Ford Committee contractor.

The happy host led guests to various party girls, urging each girl, in turn, to "take care of my friend." The women then headed with the guests to hotel bedrooms. Inside the suite, meanwhile, the liquor supply seemed inexhaustible.

One of the party girls confided to Rosenberg that she and her friends were paid a flat fee for their night's work. She also offered another confession. Although they were prettily adorned with Ford-Dole campaign buttons, she whispered, most of the girls had voted for Jimmy Carter.

Footnote: A campaign spokesman assured us that the Ford officials were unaware that anyone associated with the committee was providing feminine companionship for the visitors.

PRIVILEGED ARABS: The State Department has quietly cut off special privileges that had been granted to Arab students in this country. For more than 20 years, students from Saudi Arabia and Kuwait were admitted on A-2 visas, which are normally reserved for foreign officials and heads of state. No other foreign students received this special status.

The Saudi and Kuwaiti students were singled out for preferential treatment because at first, they were all members of royal families. But this is no longer true. Therefore, Rep. Joshua Eilberg, D-Pa., complained to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger about the favoritism.

As a result, the State Department ordered the A-2 visas revoked by October 31, but an official told us that the search for A-2 carrying students probably will go on past the deadline. They have to be located first, he said.

HEARTS ARE TRUMPS

My eldest son John, 14, was standing in front of the magistrate on a charge of purse-snatching, but I could not see him. I am blind. The purse had had $150 in it, and John had left home and spent it all in three days.

My wife and I were a little late for the preliminary hearing. When we entered the courtroom, she told me that our pastor Father O'Malley was standing next to John. I heard Father say, "Your Honor, this is the first time John has ever been in trouble, and I want to help him if I can. I know this offense is serious, but he's an honor student in our school, and an altar boy, and he has a paper route. If it is agreeable to the court and the plaintiff, I have with me enough money to make restitution."

Before the judge answered, a voice from the rear of the courtroom said, "Your Honor, I'm not Catholic. I'm a Rabbi. But I believe Father O'Malley, and I have confidence in this young man."

The judge called the plaintiff, the Rabbi, my wife and me to the bench. After a short consultation, the plaintiff was reimbursed.

I was deeply touched by the kindness of the two clergymen, who showed me that charity transcends religious differences. And these men's faith in John was justified. Today he is 21, and studying for the priesthood.

ACCESS TO HANDGUNS

A FEDERAL study of handguns taken from alleged criminals or found at crime scenes adds to the already overwhelming evidence of the need for much stricter controls over the selling and purchase of these weapons.

One-fourth of the guns, the study said, were bought from legal dealers by convicted felons or persons with arrest records. Federal law makes this illegal, but doesn't require that the identification of the customer be verified. So false identifications are used.

This doesn't work in Tennessee. By state law, dealers must send a thumbprint and application of a prospective handgun buyer to a law-enforcement agency before the sale is made. A 15-day waiting period is provided for while the identification and record of the customer are checked out.

A bill before Congress would establish similar restrictions for all states. The best way to control the proliferation of handguns and their use in crime remains a ban on their sale. But the bill would be some safeguard.

COME UP YET

Willie was an easy mark for salesmen and had bought too many items on credit. His paycheck wasn't enough to meet all the payments and most of them were overdue. After numerous dunning letters a creditor made a personal visit to collect the money due.

"Willie, you haven't made a payment on your bill in six months."

"Yeah, I know, but your name ain't come up yet."

"Name hasn't come up? You got our notices didn't you?"

"Yeah, but your name ain't come up yet."

"What do you mean?"

"Mister, it's like this. I put all the guys names I owe money to into a hat. I shake the hat and pick out a name. And that's the one I pay. So far, your name ain't come up yet!"

FEDERAL PENSION COSTS

After reading the article written by Sid Taylor, National Taxpayers Union research director which was in the record of the Senate Budget Committee hearings on the government's pension programs, we are alarmed by soaring costs and deficits in Federal retirement, pension and annuity programs.

As of March, 1976, and even on a static assumptions basis (eliminating future pay raises and CPI pension increases), the unfunded liability or actuarial deficit for these programs now totals over $499 billion.

In actuarial terms, the U.S. Government is now bankrupt. There is no tax-base or revenue source available to reduce these massive unfunded liabilities. Pension fund deficits at $499 billion are above and apart from our national debt—now around $600 billion. The issue is no longer "collective bargaining" by organized labor and military lobbies in Washington, but rather "collective solvency" for our national economy. The American taxpayers can no longer afford to support a Federal pay-pension machine that is indexed and computerized to automatically escalate costs and deficits each year.

Collective bargaining for government pay and pensions has become a two-legged stool. Labor unions and agency officials sit down at the table each year and make billion dollar contracts at taxpayers' expense. Both parties in the negotiations have a vested interest in pay and pension increases. The taxpayer is seldom if ever represented. The two-legged stool of collective bargaining is about to topple—for economic reasons.

There are not enough taxpayers in America to pay the bill. The U.S. Postal Service is a classic example of collective bargaining run amuck. About 85 per cent of the deficit-ridden Postal System budget is now consumed by pay and pensions. A similar situation has developed in the defense budget. Military payroll is eating up combat firepower. Around 1970, the big labor unions and the Pentagon Lobby in Congress teamed up (Federal Pay Comparability Act) to raid the U.S. Treasury each year through endless automatic pay and pension increases. A Pentagon General now has an annual compensation (pay plus benefits) of around $54,611.

The case of the woman welfare recipient in Chicago who allegedly used 80 names, 30 addresses, 12 Social Security cards plus veteran's benefits from four nonexistent husbands to collect over $100,000 tax-free is merely one example of "how to beat the system." However, the real problem in Federal annuity programs is that there is no "system." The benefits are largely up for grabs. The average D.C. Government police or fire officer who retired last year will be paid $699,000 in pension funds over his or her lifetime for a pension fund contribution of about $11,400. Military retirees are even more expensive. They contribute nothing into the military retirement fund ($172 billion deficit) and can retire at age 38 after 20 years of service. A lone military retiree, his dependents and survivors may eventually draw over $1 million in lifetime benefits. To illustrate this point, in pension terms, we are still paying for the Civil War. V.A. checks are still paid to 175 widows and 200 dependents—children of Civil War veterans.

On top of this, we have about 104,000 military retirees (Double Dippers) in Federal Civil Service jobs collecting dual compensation (pay plus pension). Some net as much as $50,000 a year. Ironically, this new breed of "unretired-retired" Federal bureaucrat is not only paid double, but also is double-indexed against the pangs of inflation. We even have 38 Double Dippers now in Congress. This pension windfall (under the Dual Compensation Act of 1964) has cost about $3 billion to date. It is an insult to the American taxpayers.

Today's Federal Bureaucracy (military and civilian) is largely overpaid, overpromoted and consequently overpensioned. Government pay and pension programs have become a Rube Goldberg maze of outdated policies, waste, extravagance, red tape and red ink. Some pension programs are funded, others unfunded, taxed or untaxed. The new "corruption" in government is no longer at the personal level but at the system-legislative levels. The problem is not human behavior but system behavior. Many Federal pension, retirement and annuity programs have become so vast, complicated, costly and confusing as to defy citizen-taxpayer comprehension. Computerized annuity programs may soon automatically and mindlessly spend us into national bankruptcy—in the midst of our Bicentennial Celebration—unless the White House and Congress take action.

GREGORY AND BUTZ
AGREE

From The Kansas City Times

One of the daffiest notions to strike in many a week was that Earl Butz, agriculture secretary, and Dick Gregory, black comedian and civil rights activist, have been out on the circuit preaching the same message: That the Federal Government, big as it is, has not been doing what it promised for the right folks. Perhaps the secretary and the self-styled hunger fighter have more in common than either would admit.

Consider that during a recent visit to Kansas City, Butz lambasted his own department for falling down on the job it is supposed to do. USDA, Butz said, is required by legislation to spend about two thirds of its annual 15-billion-dollar budget on various food and food stamp programs at the expense of traditional roles like oil conservation, plant and animal research and developing marketing opportunities. Food stamps, hot lunches and the rest, Butz urged, should be transferred out of USDA to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

At the same time Gregory, who claims to be running across the country to draw attention to U.S. hunger problems, said in interviews in Liberal and Wichita, Kan., that human nutrition in America should have its own cabinet representation, such as a Department of Food and Nutrition. He would leave "the wheat and the cattle to the secretary of agriculture."

Really now, there isn't too much difference in those opinions. Perhaps the notion isn't so strange after all. At least the two are agreed that the Government, specifically USDA, isn't doing some of the jobs it is supposed to do well enough.

PRESERVING
THE PAST

Money has not been forthcoming to preserve the 1865 Randolph House at Beale and Lauderdale. Now a fire apparently set by vagrants has added to the potential cost of saving this part of Memphis' past.

Perhaps the fire, and the problem in trying to find a way to preserve the Randolph House, at least can serve to spur interest in keeping the bulldozers away from other old sections of inner-city Memphis that are truly part of our city's heritage, whatever low estate they may have fallen to today.

Philadelphia cannot be overly praised for historical preservation. Its expressways and office buildings have trampled down what were some of the finest of Colonial structures. Much that is admired among Philadelphia's historic section is pure reconstruction. But Philadelphia does have Elfreth's Alley, a narrow street with 33 houses dating to about 1630 and lived in continuously to this day. That point is the one to stress in trying to preserve what remains of 19th Century Memphis. Preservation must be undertaken with the idea of keeping old houses inhabited. Whole neighborhoods need to be refurbished with the primary purpose of turning a profit and bringing in people who are residents, not just passersby who want to look.

That is a challenge the leaders of Memphis, in both politics and the business of property development, either do not recognize or choose to ignore.

Memphis is losing steadily as a result.

THEY MUST DIE FIRST

Unfortunately, railroads are reticent in installing adequate warning signals at highway and street crossings until a death or sometimes several deaths occur.

The most recent instance of this is at Clarence, where a 5-year-old boy was killed in a car-train crash at an unguarded crossing. It was the second death at that point in a short period, and brought almost immediate action for flashing light signals.

It has always been a mystery why railroads so often refuse to install signals until someone is killed. Aside from the loss of life, which can't be measured in dollars, there is the cost to the railroad company.

Damages for any one death or injury can more than equal costs of signals.

Adequate signals are a protection for the railroad as well as the public.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Behind the Victory:
How Labor delivered the White House to Carter

WASHINGTON — It was late election night, after the professionals realized Jerry Ford would lose, when Jimmy Carter reached for his Atlanta hotel phone and called labor chief George Meany. Talking as the new head of a sovereign state to the old president of another, the man from Plains said thanks for everything. The labor leader took the call at the George Meany Center for Labor Studies in Silver Spring, Md., where he will teach when he retires next year.

Early Wednesday morning President-elect Carter told folks, "I had the best organization any candidate ever had." Damn right.

That organization was labor's and George Meany's. Without it the Georgian would have lost New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Texas to name a few.

There's an understandable passion to talk of and denounce labor's power. But few commentators really understand from whence this extraordinary political strength springs. Organization. It's not the union orators who take a bow up front. It's, for example, literally the more than 100,000 volunteer workers who, like disciplined strike captains, signed up to get out the vote Tuesday. And did.

The strategists who directed them, and who met every other Tuesday for months this year in Meany's office, make Chicago Mayor Richard Daley look like the manager of a college freshman class presidential candidate.

For almost a year now Meany's national AFL-CIO headquarters computer has operated round-the-clock seven days a week, printing AFL-CIO members' names and street locations for those 100,000 volunteers — aided by national unions' full-time organizing staffs on full-time politics. Such as — President Bill Siddell's Carpenters Brotherhood's 300 field organizers.

Some unions rushed field staffs of 600 to 700 into full-time action for the Carter campaign. And when the central AFL-CIO computer ran out of time, the bakers' and machinists, computers were thrown in.

And there was the massive countrywide registration drive, tied in with the Democratic National Committee's own push for new voters, especially Spanish-surnamed, directed by Joe Aragon, paid for by labor. Some 8 million new voters became eligible. Some 10 per cent were Hispanic. Many believe these carried Texas for Jimmy Carter.

When it looked bad for the Democratic candidate in Ohio, state labor federation chief Warren Smith targeted 2,400 Ohio precincts known for low turnout despite a large number of registered unionists. He printed 890,000 newspapers in color. He hit the districts with his own computerized drive. He distributed 600,000 "doorhangers" — come on out and vote, etc. He put on 3,000 election day labor puller-outers. Today Mr. Carter tops President Ford in Ohio by about 702 votes. A switch of some 500 voters would have made the difference. Or the failure of 1,000 unionists to show . . .

And over in Pennsylvania, when Gov. Carter's speeches were drawing more yawns than supporters, the labor COPE chiefs decided to throw in almost a million dollars to fuel the Democratic machine. It worked.

During the final days when Mr. Carter needed the proverbial shot in the arm, the International Ladies Garment Workers Union leader Sol (Chick) Chaikin, came up with the political hypo — the traditional New York City garment area rally. Some 60,000 people jammed the famed "rag jungle." Some came on their own. Some because it was lunch hour. And most because the dress shops were closed for several hours — at the suggestion of the union.

During the drive from the three-block-long rally to a private hotel conference with other labor chiefs from New York and New Jersey, the candidate murmured over and over again to Chick, "I've never seen so many people."

What of New York state? For over 18 months now Meany, the seafarers' Paul Hall, the longshoremen, the Building and Construction Trades, the teachers and municipal employees, the paper workers, just to mention a few, put together the state's first united COPE machine.

They put young men at the gears. And Mr. Carter people realized that labor wasn't just an elderly curmudgeon behind cigar smoke. Labor is the Jewish garment retirees, the Irish hard hats, the Italian needle workers, the older women who worked Ma Bell's switchboards in the "Hello Central" days. And New York state labor put out over two million leaflets, telephoned almost half a million families in the state and rolled hundreds of sound trucks through the streets.

That's how you win elections. That's how you get first money — the White House — and become partners in power. For along with the Presidential candidate are washed into Congress legislators with whom President Carter will have to deal. And the new President will learn that labor will broker those deals in return for its own special interest legislation.

So it's worth reporting here what he recently told 11 members of the Georgia Local 226 of the Amalgamated Clothing and Textile Workers Union on his own front lawn. The local had supported him during his first political bid when he won the 14th District state Senate seat, which covers Americus and Plains. He won by 56 votes. The local had delivered.

If it hadn't been for ACTUW Local 226, "I would not have been in politics at all," Jimmy Carter told the 11 unionists.

And 14 years later, if it weren't for the national labor movement, he wouldn't be moving into the White House. In effect, that's what he told Meany during that election night phone conversation.

Washington
MERRY-GO-ROUND*Reagan's Last Hurrah
Is Still to Be Heard

by Jack Anderson
and Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — Ronald Reagan's great moment, as he came close to displacing an incumbent president before a wildly cheering Republican convention last August won't be his last hurrah. The darling of the conservatives is quietly planning a political comeback.

The plans took focus as Reagan dutifully campaigned for the man who had defeated him for the presidential nomination. At first, he flirted with the idea of forming a third party if President Ford lost the election. But he rejected this idea as impractical.

Instead, he persuaded himself that he could use the GOP framework to restructure the party into a conservative bastion. He has decided to try, therefore, to Reaganize the Republican Party.

Reagan has condescended his plans to a few intimates, who are rarin' to begin the new crusade. "We came out of Kansas City with 3,000 trained workers," one associate told us. "Our lists are intact. We've got tentative meetings in mind for December and January."

One meeting would be held in the West, perhaps Phoenix, the other in the South. "Count on it, Ronald Reagan will be an activist," promised the associate.

Another top aide from the Reagan campaign pointed out that the charismatic former California governor unquestionably is the spiritual leader of the conservatives. Two other national conservative leaders, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., lost a lot of their credibility with conservatives by supporting President Ford at the Republican convention, the aide said.

A third Reagan lieutenant, while not ruling out a final shot at the White House by the 65-year-old Reagan, suggested that they might merely build a base for a younger candidate to pick up the conservative banner. Indeed, our source indicated that a search has already begun for a bright, tough, young conservative whom Reagan might groom for the GOP nomination in 1980.

Reagan's friends told us that his decision to forego a placid private life and return to the political turmoil was reached in the middle of the Ford-Carter campaign.

Reagan made more than 25 campaign appearances ostensibly to help Ford but more pointedly to push conservative Republicans who had risked their political necks to support him against an incumbent.

Reagan sensed that the hysteria of past conservative revivals had been replaced by a more stable affection and trust for their spiritual leader. At the same time, he felt that the president was blurring some of the issues in an appeal to the amorphous middle-of-the-road voters. So Reagan decided to try to give the electorate a cold, clean choice in 1980.

PARTY GIRLS: This is a postscript to the sex-in-Washington scandals. The Republicans used the issue against the Democrats during the campaign. For most of the congressmen who had been caught dallying had been Democrats.

At the Election Night gala for Gerald Ford and Bob Dole, the Republican hordes listened to speeches in the main ballroom of Washington's Sheraton-Park Hotel about the moral decay of the Democratic Congress.

But in the hospitality suites upstairs, visiting Republican bigwigs freely partook of the same moral decay. We sent our reporter Howard Rosenberg to check out the reports of partying in the Republican bedroom suites.

Posing as a campaign celebrant from the Midwest, he followed the joyous sounds to a lush suite where a party was hosted by a Ford Committee contractor.

The happy host led guests to various party girls, urging each girl, in turn, to "take care of my friend." The women then headed with the guests to hotel bedrooms. Inside the suite, meanwhile, the liquor supply seemed inexhaustible.

One of the party girls confided to Rosenberg that she and her friends were paid a flat fee for their night's work. She also offered another confession. Although they were prettily adorned with Ford-Dole campaign buttons, she whispered, most of the girls had voted for Jimmy Carter.

Footnote: A campaign spokesman assured us that the Ford officials were unaware that anyone associated with the committee was providing feminine companionship for the visitors.

PRIVILEGED ARABS: The State Department has quietly cut off special privileges that had been granted to Arab students in this country. For more than 20 years, students from Saudi Arabia and Kuwait were admitted on A-2 visas, which are normally reserved for foreign officials and heads of state. No other foreign students received this special status.

The Saudi and Kuwaiti students were singled out for preferential treatment because at first, they were all members of royal families. But this is no longer true. Therefore, Rep. Joshua Eilberg, D-Pa., complained to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger about the favoritism.

As a result, the State Department ordered the A-2 visas revoked by October 31, but an official told us that the search for A-2 carrying students probably will go on past the deadline. They have to be located first, he said.

Women now hold 685 state seats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women increased their ranks in state legislatures from 8 per cent to 9.1 per cent in last Tuesday's election, for a new total of 685 seats.

"It's progress — but not very fast progress," said Betsy Wright, director of the National Women's Education Fund, which has been compiling statistics on women at state and local levels since 1974.

"We've got to discover some way we can go from 9 per cent all the way up to 25 per cent in one election period," said Mrs. Wright, who prefers that designation.

Only then, she said, will women have enough of a base to make significant inroads on statewide and national offices.

The number of women in the U.S. Congress declined by one as a result of Tuesday's elections, from 19 to 18 out of 435 House members. There are no women in the 100-member Senate.

Ann Zill, director of the Women's Campaign Fund, said one breakthrough in 1976 was that for the first time women have begun to contribute money for women's campaigns.

The campaign fund collected almost $63,700 for women candidates, and the National Women's Political Caucus raised another $30,000.

Red Cross dispute

Dear Ann: I was irritated by your kind words for the American Red Cross. As a veteran of World War II who served overseas for three years, I'd like you to know that the organization you praised was no favorite of the men and women in uniform.

We had to pay the Red Cross for coffee, doughnuts, meals and overnight lodging while the Salvation Army supplied coffee, doughnuts and meals free.

So please, Ann, don't be so generous with our bouquets. Toss them only to the worthy and preserve your credibility. — G.I. Joe of Long Ago

Dear Joe: A blizzard of letters similar to yours hit my desk after that column appeared. I wrote to the top officials of the American Red Cross for an explanation and received an eye-popping response. It was documented by a copy of a letter dated March 20, 1942, from Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, to Norman H. Davis, Chairman of the American Red Cross. Here's the inside story — and pretty it isn't.

All English and Australian men in uniform had to pay for off-base food and lodging because voluntary giving (which is characteristic of the United States) is not the pattern in other countries.

The Red Cross, which has never accepted a dime from the U.S. government (and to this day relies totally on voluntary contributions) was asked to establish club facilities for U.S. servicemen overseas where troops from all allied forces would be welcome. The Salvation Army did NOT have this responsibility.

The British High Command then made an official request

MORLEY — Officers of the Order of the Eastern Star, friends and relatives from across the state joined members of Morley Chapter No. 342 to honor Mary Swinger, grand marshal of the Grand Chapter of Missouri, Friday night at the Masonic Hall at Morley.

Mrs. Naomi McDonough, worthy matron, and Curtis Halford, worthy patron, extended a welcome to the guests. Mrs. Etta Frobase, past matron, of Morley, and Clarence Sadler, worthy patron, of Sikeston, presided over introductions and courtesies for the honoree.

Mrs. Swinger and her husband, Harry, served as matron and patron of Morley chapter in 1957. She has been a member of the organization for 27 years and served as district deputy grand matron in 1961. She has just completed her 16th year as secretary of the home chapter.

Distinguished guests present for the event were Mrs. Lillie Barks, worthy grand matron of the Grand Chapter of Missouri, of Cape Girardeau; Mrs. Joan Ashman, grandchaplain, of Jackson; Mrs. Sharmayne Brown, grand organizer, of Joplin; Mrs. Jackie Setchfield, grand Adah and Mrs. Thelma Kehres, grand Ruth, both of St. Louis; Mrs. Betty Egner, grand Esther, of Kansas City; Mrs. Martha Newman, grand Martha, of St. Louis; and Mrs. Delores Vaughn, grand Electa, of Jefferson City.

Other guests from the

surrounding area included the grand representative of Missouri, Mrs. Agnes Eastep of Colfax, Wash. Mrs. Swinger's children and grandchildren also attended. They are Mr. and Mrs. Gary Seinger, Kim and Mark of Memphis, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. William R. Pruett of Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. Gary

Burnett of Charleston and David Swinger of Benton.

Mrs. Nancy Swinger of Morehouse chapter presided over the guest book and the Assembly of Rainbow Girls of Chaffee presented the Bible ceremony. Mrs. Irene Carr, Cape Girardeau, gave the tribute to the American flag.

RSVP bazaar

CHAFFEE — The Scott County Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) will have a bazaar and bake sale Saturday at the Harmon Building in Chaffee, next door to Western Auto. The sale will be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Features of the bazaar will be ceramic items, macrame, plants, needlecraft and baked goods, all made by the volunteers and supporters of the program.

Proceeds will be used to expand the RSVP, a group of retired persons volunteering their time and talents for community service.

Women now hold 685 state seats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women increased their ranks in state legislatures from 8 per cent to 9.1 per cent in last Tuesday's election, for a new total of 685 seats.

"It's progress — but not very fast progress," said Betsey Wright, director of the National Women's Education Fund, which has been compiling statistics on women at state and local levels since 1974.

"We've got to discover some way we can go from 9 per cent all the way up to 25 per cent in one election period," said Ms. Wright, who prefers that designation.

Only then, she said, will women have enough of a base to make significant inroads on statewide and national offices.

The number of women in the U.S. Congress declined by one as a result of Tuesday's elections, from 19 to 18 out of 435 House members. There are no women in the 100-member Senate.

Ann Zill, director of the Women's Campaign Fund, said one breakthrough in 1976 was that for the first time women have begun to contribute money for women's campaigns.

The campaign fund collected almost $63,700 for women candidates, and the National Women's Political Caucus raised another $30,000.

Red Cross dispute

Dear Ann: I was irritated by your kind words for the American Red Cross. As a veteran of World War II who served overseas for three years, I'd like you to know that the organization you praised was no favorite of the men and women in uniform.

We had to pay the Red Cross for coffee, doughnuts, meals and overnight lodging while the Salvation Army supplied coffee, doughnuts and meals free.

So please, Ann, don't be so generous with our bouquets. Toss them only to the worthy and preserve your credibility. — G.I. Joe of Long Ago

Dear Joe: A blizzard of letters similar to yours hit my desk after that column appeared. I wrote to the top officials of the American Red Cross for an explanation and received an eye-popping response. It was documented by a copy of a letter dated March 20, 1942, from Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, to Norman H. Davis, Chairman of the American Red Cross. Here's the inside story — and pretty it isn't.

All English and Australian men in uniform had to pay for off-base food and lodging because voluntary giving (which is characteristic of the United States) is not the pattern in other countries.

The Red Cross, which has never accepted a dime from the U.S. government (and to this day relies totally on voluntary contributions) was asked to establish club facilities for U.S. servicemen overseas where troops from all allied forces would be welcome. The Salvation Army did NOT have this responsibility.

The British High Command then made an official request

Mrs. Swinger feted at Morley

MORLEY — Officers of the Order of the Eastern Star, friends and relatives from across the state joined members of Morley Chapter No. 342 to honor Mary Swinger, grand marshal of the Grand Chapter of Missouri, Friday night at the Masonic Hall at Morley.

Mrs. Naomi McDonough, worthy matron, and Curtis Halford, worthy patron, extended a welcome to the guests. Mrs. Etta Frobese, past matron, of Morley, and Clarence Sadler, worthy patron, of Sikeston, presided over introductions and courtesies for the honoree.

Mrs. Swinger and her husband, Harry, served as matron and patron of Morley chapter in 1957. She has been a member of the organization for 27 years and served as district deputy grand matron in 1961. She has just completed her 16th year as secretary of the home chapter.

Distinguished guests present for the event were Mrs. Lillie Barks, worthy grand matron of the Grand Chapter of Missouri, of Cape Girardeau; Mrs. Joan Ashman, grandchapelain, of Jackson; Mrs. Sharmayne Brown, grand organizer, of Joplin; Mrs. Jackie Setchfield, grand Adah and Mrs. Thelma Kehres, grand Ruth, both of St. Louis; Mrs. Betty Egner, grand Esther, of Kansas City; Mrs. Martha Newman, grand Martha, of St. Louis; and Mrs. Delores Vaughn, grand Electa, of Jefferson City.

Other guests from the

surrounding area included the grand representative of Missouri, Mrs. Agnes Eastep of Colfax, Wash. Mrs. Swinger's children and grandchildren also attended. They are Mr. and Mrs. Gary Seinger, Kim and Mark of Memphis, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. William R. Pruett of Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. Gary

Burnett of Charleston and David Swinger of Benton.

Mrs. Nancy Swinger of Morehouse chapter presided over the guest book and the Assembly of Rainbow Girls of Chaffee presented the Bible ceremony. Mrs. Irene Carr, Cape Girardeau, gave the tribute to the American flag.

Bakken's toe beats Eagles

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Remember what the teacher always says: "Practice makes perfect?" Apparently Jim Bakken never forgot.

Bakken, the veteran St. Louis Cardinals' placekicker, had a nightmarish first half against the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday. He tried three field goals and made none, two because of bad center snaps and the third on a deflection.

Bakken was especially upset because the Cardinals' offense was flat in the first half, and the Eagles had a 7-0 lead.

Bakken, center Tom Brahaney and holder Roger Wehrli went to school on the sidelines.

"We talked about what had happened," Bakken explained. "We took a couple of snaps. We got it all back together again."

The practice paid off. The Cardinals had a fourth down at the Eagles seven-yard line with 8 minutes, 22 seconds left in the fourth period and the score tied 14-14. Out came Bakken, Brahaney and Wehrli again.

This time there was no room for error. Brahaney made a perfect snap. Wehrli set the ball down and Bakken kicked. It was good, and carried St. Louis to a 17-14 victory. Last week, a Bakken field goal in overtime gave the Cardinals a three-point triumph over San Francisco.

The squeaker over the Eagles, whom they had trampled 33-14 earlier this season, enabled the Cardinals to remain one game behind pacesetter Dallas in the National Football League's National Conference East. The Cards are 7-2, and the Cowboys 8-1. The loss was the Eagles' sixth against three victories.

Fullback Jim Otis, who gained 115 yards on 27 carries, led two St. Louis scoring drives in the third period that sent the Cards ahead 14-7. Steve Jones scored the first touchdown on a two-yard smash and rookie Wayne Morris the second on a seven-yard run. Bakken kicked both extra points.

The Eagles, who gained their 7-0 halftime lead on a first-period 48-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Mike Boryla to wide receiver Charley Smith, tied the score 14-14, taking advantage of a fumbled punt by Pat Tilley at the St. Louis 37. Boryla scrambled 21 yards to the 12, and Dave Hampton eventually scored on a six-yard sprint. Horst Muhlmann kicked his second conversion with 14:56 left in the game.

St. Louis drove to the winning field goal after taking over on its 45-yard line following a punt with 10:47 left. On second down, quarterback Jim Hart tossed a sideline pass to wide receiver Ike Harris, and with guard Conrad Dobler clearing the way, the play went 40 yards to the Eagles' 11.

Three plays netted eight yards, so with fourth and two at the Philadelphia seven, the Cardinals gave Bakken and his friends a chance to recoup.

Otis, who played despite a gashed knee suffered when he fell on a broken bottle on the sidelines, set up the first St. Louis TD with a 20-yard burst to the Eagles' five. He gained 30 yards on four carries in the 11-play, 77-yard march to the second Cardinals touchdown.

Otis tried to downplay his seventh 100-yard plus game since the Cardinals rescued him from Kansas City in 1973 for the $100 waiver price. He led the NFC in ground gaining last year, and already this year has carried 138 times for 560 yards.

"I'm just one of the guys," said Otis, now in his seventh year of pro football. "Heck, I should make 100 yards in every game. I hate to admit it but we weren't ready in the first half. We became more aggressive in the last two periods."

The Cardinals' offense didn't suffer from lack of aggressiveness. It suffered from a lack of Terry Metcalf and Mel Gray. Metcalf, one of the league's top running backs, was sidelined with an ankle injury. Gray, a speedy wide receiver, was operated on last week to repair a broken nose.

Eagles' Coach Dick Vermeil said the difference was in turnovers. The Eagles lost three fumbles and Boryla's first intercepted pass in six games. "You can't turn the ball over and win," he said. "In a way St. Louis was lucky after messing up three field goal attempts."

Shane Wille (left) seems to have kicked the ball away and Paul Rodman (center) expects the worst in recent YMCA soccer competition. Jan Buchta (right) also played in the soccer program, which was open to boys and girls. (AP Wirephoto)

shapes up, according to the coaches:

1. Charleston
2. Kelly
3. Sikeston
4. Poplar Bluff
5. Advance
6. Lilbourn
7. Richland
8. Matthews
9. Woodland
10. Notre Dame

Four of the Standard's top ten teams begin action this week, while the rest of the non-football playing schools open play next week. Sikeston, Charleston and Poplar Bluff all open with the Sikeston Invitational Tournament beginning Nov. 29.

Seventh-rated Richland travels to Bernie in the most attractive match-up Tuesday night. Leachville is at Senath-Hornerville, Delta goes to Zalma and Bell City hosts Holcomb in the other games.

Friday night, eighth-ranked Matthews will play at Risco, while fifth-ranked Advance will take on defending 1-A champion Scott Central at Advance. Ninth-ranked Woodland hosts Bernie. In other Friday night games, Leopold is at Oran and Couch is at Neelyville.

Beginning tomorrow, the Daily Standard will preview the top ten teams in the pre-season poll.

Standard 6-0; 3 teams tied for 2nd

The Daily Standard completed the Jaycee Little League Football season with a perfect 6-0 record Saturday afternoon as they defeated National Lock 19-13 to round out their undefeated season.

In the other game of the day, the Bank of Sikeston pulled off a 24-21 upset victory over the Jaycees. It was only the second victory of the season for Bank of Sikeston.

The win by Bank of Sikeston left them tied with the Jaycees and National Lock for second place in the league. All three teams finished with 2-4 records.

and his friends a chance to recoup.

Otis, who played despite a gashed knee suffered when he fell on a broken bottle on the sidelines, set up the first St. Louis TD with a 20-yard burst to the Eagles' five. He gained 30 yards on four carries in the 11-play, 77-yard march to the second Cardinals touchdown.

Otis tried to downplay his seventh 100-yard plus game since the Cardinals rescued him from Kansas City in 1973 for the $100 waiver price. He led the NFC in ground gaining last year, and already this year has carried 138 times for 560 yards.

"I'm just one of the guys," said Otis, now in his seventh year of pro football. "Heck, I should make 100 yards in every game. I hate to admit it but we weren't ready in the first half. We became more aggressive in the last two periods."

The Cardinals' offense didn't suffer from lack of aggressiveness. It suffered from a lack of Terry Metcalf and Mel Gray. Metcalf, one of the league's top running backs, was sidelined with an ankle injury. Gray, a speedy wide receiver, was operated on last week to repair a broken nose.

Eagles' Coach Dick Vermeil said the difference was in turnovers. The Eagles lost three fumbles and Boryla's first intercepted pass in six games. "You can't turn the ball over and win," he said. "In a way St. Louis was lucky after messing up three field goal attempts."

O.J. is ejected, TD is rejected and Falcons are dejected in NFL

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

There were almost as many surprises as there were mistakes in National Football League action Sunday.

It started with O.J. Simpson getting thrown out of a game for fighting. It continued when a referee apparently cost the Chicago Bears a victory, and went further with a premature touchdown celebration by a Minnesota receiver. Then it was capped with Seattle's 30-13 victory over Atlanta, the first by an expansion team over one of the NFL establishment.

Simpson, in his eighth season as Buffalo's premier running back, traded swings with New England defensive end Mel Lunsford in the first quarter of the Patriots' 20-10 victory over the Bills.

"The whistle had blown and the play was definitely over when that guy slung me down on my head," Simpson said after the first ejection of his career. "I don't mind taking legal shots, but I'm going to let the man know when it's not a legal shot."

The Bears remained in their game throughout, but lost 28-27 to Oakland because an "inadvertent whistle" by referee Chuck Heberling cost them a touchdown.

Raiders quarterback Ken Stabler had gone back to pass but was hit by Chicago's Wally Chambers. The ball popped loose, was scooped up by Roger Stilwell and returned 50 yards for what appeared to be a Bears touchdown.

In the other NFL games, the Miami Dolphins blasted the New York Jets 27-7, the St. Louis Cardinals trimmed the Philadelphia Eagles 17-14, the Green Bay Packers nipped the New Orleans Saints 32-27 and the Pittsburgh Steelers walloped the Kansas City Chiefs 45-0.

Also, the Dallas Cowboys clipped the winless New York Giants 9-3, the Cleveland Browns bested the Houston Oilers 21-7, the Denver Broncos blitzed the Tampa Bay Buccaneers 48-13, the Baltimore Colts downed the San Diego Chargers 37-21, and the Washington Redskins got past the San Francisco 49ers, 24-21.

The Cincinnati Bengals host the Los Angeles Rams in tonight's game.

Fortunately for the Vikings, they recovered from a fumble by receiver Sammy White, who began celebrating a touchdown before he reached the end zone. After hauling in a Fran Tarkenton pass and reeking behind the defense, White hoisted the ball above his head — only to fumble it when hit by Detroit's Lem Barney on the Lions' three-yard line.

The ball bounced into the end zone, where Detroit recovered for a touchdown. Redskins 24, 49ers 21.

The 49ers got into the mistake act, too, giving up a first down to the Redskins on a fake field goal play.

"Everybody in ballpark knew that fake field goal was coming," moaned San Francisco Coach Monte Clark. "We talked about it all week. I don't know how we let it happen."

Joe Theismann, who passed for 302 yards including three touchdowns to Jean Fugett, ran for the first down to set up Mark Moseley's game-winning field goal with 1:57 left.

Both teams are 6-3.

Seahawks 30, Falcons 13. Seattle, with the National Conference's worst defense, recovered two Falcons fumbles and picked off four passes in beating Atlanta, 2-7.

The expansion Seahawks, 2-7, collected two touchdowns within 18 seconds in the second period.

Raiders 28, Bears 27.

Though Ken Stabler threw three touchdown passes, including two to Cliff Branch for Oakland, 8-1 — and despite the referee's mistake — the Bears, 4-5, still had a chance to win with 15 seconds left when Bob Thomas attempted a 31-yard field goal. The kick hit the upright and rebounded back onto the field.

Colts 37, Chargers 21.

Bert Jones hit on 18 of 25 passes, three of them for touchdowns, to lead Baltimore, 8-1, over San Diego, 4-5. Running back Lydell Mitchell added 91 yards on 17 rushes and 125 yards on eight pass receptions.

Cardinals 17, Eagles 14. Jim Bakken missed his first three field goal attempts, two because of bad snaps and one that was deflected. But then his 20-yard field goal with 8:22 left lifted the Cardinals, 7-2, over the Eagles, 3-6.

Shane Wille (left) seems to have kicked the ball awry and Paul Rodman (center) expects the worst in recent YMCA soccer competition. Jan Buchta (right) also played in the soccer program, which was open to boys and girls. (AP Wirephoto)

Cage season moves into full swing this week

It's high school basketball time again in Southeast Missouri!

Although the season technically got underway last week with the Bell City B Team Tournament, the season rolls into high gear this week. Four varsity games are set for Tuesday night, and five more are on the schedule Friday evening. In addition, the four-team Gideon Invitational Tournament will begin Thursday night, and the Parma B Team Tournament will run throughout this week.

The Daily Standard, with the cooperation of the area's coaches, has compiled its pre-season top ten for the coming season. Charleston was the unanimous choice as the number one team in the area. Here is the way the top ten shapes up, according to the coaches:

1. Charleston
2. Kelly
3. Sikeston
4. Poplar Bluff
5. Advance
6. Lilbourn
7. Richland
8. Matthews
9. Woodland
10. Notre Dame

Four of the Standard's top ten teams begin action this week, while the rest of the non-football playing schools open play next week. Sikeston, Charleston and Poplar Bluff all open with the Sikeston Invitational Tournament beginning Nov. 29.

Seventh-rated Richland travels to Bernie in the most attractive match-up Tuesday night. Leachville is at Senath-Hornersville, Delta goes to Zalma and Bell City hosts Holcomb in the other games.

Friday night, eighth-ranked Matthews will play at Risco, while fifth-ranked Advance will take on defending I-A champion Scott Central at Advance. Ninth-ranked Woodland hosts Bernie. In other Friday night games, Leopold is at Oran and Couch is at Neelyville.

Beginning tomorrow, the Daily Standard will preview the top ten teams in the pre-season poll.

Standard 6-0; 3 teams tied for 2nd

The Daily Standard completed the Jaycee Little League Football season with a perfect 6-0 record Saturday afternoon as they defeated National Lock 19-13 to round out their undefeated season.

In the other game of the day, the Bank of Sikeston pulled off a 24-21 upset victory over the Jaycees. It was only the second victory of the season for Bank of Sikeston.

The win by Bank of Sikeston left them tied with the Jaycees and National Lock for second place in the league. All three teams finished with 2-4 records.

Gun deer season is near

JEFFERSON CITY — Missouri gun deer hunters have their inning (and their outing) November 13-21 and if the archery season is any indication, the gun season should be a huge success.

Through the first month of the archery season, bowhunters took 1,235 deer or about the same as in the similar period in 1975 when gun hunters set a harvest record of 51,823 animals.

Regulations are somewhat more restrictive this season which should hold down the total bag, but the Missouri deer herd is in excellent condition.

Units One, Four, Seven and Ten will be bucks - only the entire season. Unit One is northwest Missouri, Four is west-central, Seven southwest and Ten the Bootheel. All units are bounded by major highways.

Units Two (north-central) and Three (northeast) will be bucks only November 13-19 and any-deer November 20-21. Units Five (central), Six (east-central), Nine (southeast) and Twelve (east-central along Missouri River) will be bucks - only with a quota on antlerless deer. Permits for antlerless deer already have been drawn for and issued.

Units Eight (central Ozarks) and Eleven (eastern Ozarks) will be bucks only November 13-19 and November 21, with one day of any deer hunting November 20.

The boundary between Units Four and Five has changed. The new Unit Four boundary will be the Kansas line on the west, I-70 Highway on the north, I-44 to the south and Highway 65 from I-70 south to Highway 52, then Highway 52 south to Highway 71, then Highway 71 south to I-44.

Shooting hours are 6:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Central Standard Time. The archery season is closed to bowhunters with a bow tag during the gun season, though they may hunt deer on a gun tag with their bows.

All deer must be tagged (farmers hunting under the farmer regulation must make a tag with their name, address and date), and all deer must be checked on the day taken either in the county where taken or an adjoining one.

Pitt expected to be No. 1 team

AP Sports Writer

Top-rated Michigan's Bo Schembechler and also-ran Purdue's Alex Agase sounded like hundreds of other coaches before Saturday's game. As things turned out, they really sounded like prophets.

Schembechler: "Of all the teams in the Big Ten capable of pulling an upset, I think Purdue is the one."

Agase: "Sometimes things happen when someone is going somewhere."

Well, a funny thing happened to Michigan en route to college football's national championship. The nation's highest scoring team, averaging 44 points a game, managed only two touchdowns against a Purdue club which had yielded 199 points in eight games and hadn't held anyone under 16. The final score — Purdue 16, Michigan 14 and Pitt probably No. 1.

Perhaps Purdue got its opponents mixed up. A week ago the Boilermakers were routed by Michigan State 45-13, then they come back and beat Michigan.

It was supposed to be the other way around, but Scott DiKiery galloped for 162 yards and two touchdowns and Rock Sapan booted a decisive 23-yard field goal with just over four minutes remaining in addition to making 11 tackles for his secondary post. Meanwhile, Michigan's Bob Wood misfired on a 37-yard attempt with nine seconds left. As ex-Michigan center Jerry Ford knows, close isn't good enough.

"It hurts a lot," Schembechler said. "We don't accept it...we shouldn't accept it...because we should have won. No defeat is good. We got down there at the end and we should have scored. But when you depend on winning on a forward pass or a field goal, you're in trouble."

"I'm not going to turn down the honor of being No. 1 if it comes our way. We have as much right to it as anyone else." Pitt Coach Johnny Majors said after the second-ranked Panthers whipped Army 37-7 behind Tony Dorsett's 212 yards and three touchdowns.

"You won't get me to answer that one," UCLA Coach Terry Donahue said after the third-ranked Bruins routed Oregon 46-0 with Wendell Tyler and James Brown each scoring twice. "But I will say that with Michigan getting beat, I would expect us to move up."

Fourth-ranked Southern Cal, minus injured Ricky Bell, the nation's leading rusher, wallowed Stanford 48-24 as Vince Evans tied a school record with four touchdown passes, three to Shelton Diggs. The Trojans remained tied with UCLA for the Pacific-8 Conference lead.

Fifth-ranked Texas Tech opened a quick 14-0 lead over winless Texas Christian on an 88-yard pass play from Rodney Allison to Brian Nelson and Allison's three-yard run but then had to hang on to beat the upset-bent Horned Frogs 14-10. A late TCU threat stalled when Tech's Eric Felton intercepted a pass deep in his own territory.

However, Tech not only remained unbeaten but took over undisputed possession of the Southwest Conference lead when 12th-ranked Arkansas was held to a 7-7 standoff by Baylor.

Sixth-ranked Maryland held Cincinnati to four first downs in the first three periods and cruised to a 21-0 triumph behind Mark Mangas' two touchdown passes.

The bowl picture cleared up a bit when seventh-ranked Georgia came from behind with four second-half touchdowns to beat No. 10 Florida 41-27 and tie the Gators for the Southeastern Conference lead. A victory over Auburn next week sends Georgia to the Sugar Bowl.

Ray Goff scored three touchdowns, two of them in the final period after Georgia rallied from a 27-13 halftime deficit to 27 tie. It was another frustration for Florida, which could have clinched its first-ever SEC crown.

The momentum swung Georgia's way when Florida failed on a fourth-and-one gamble at its own 29 midway through the third quarter. Georgia tied the score six plays later.

"We were not outplayed, we were outcoached," said Florida's Doug Dickey. "I made some of the dumbest calls I ever made. I gambled on fourth down because I thought we needed a mental lift to get started."

Eighth-ranked Ohio State snapped a Big Ten tie with Michigan by trouncing Illinois 42-10. Fullback Pete Johnson scored four times, giving him 53 career touchdowns, six short of the major college mark held by Army's Glenn Davis.

After a five-way tie two weeks ago, ninth-ranked Nebraska now leads the Big Eight. Vince Ferragamo brought the Cornhuskers from behind twice with scoring passes to Chuck Malito and Ken Spaeth to eke out a 14-10 decision over No. 13 Oklahoma State. The losers had been tied with Nebraska and No. 14 Colorado a 16-7 loser to No. 16 Missouri.

Notre Dame, ranked 11th, blew a 14-3 and probably a trip to a major bowl, as well, by losing to Georgia Tech 23-14 on David Sims' second-half touchdown runs of 10 and 16 yards.

No. 15 Alabama, which always goes to a bowl, staked this year's claim by downing Louisiana State 28-17 on touchdown runs of 13 and 58 yards by Johnny Davis.

Thomas Lott rushed for 195 yards, most ever by an Oklahoma quarterback, and scored three times as the 17th-ranked Sooners drubbed Kansas State 49-20.

Texas A&M, No. 18, was idle but No. 19 Houston ended the 42-game home winning streak of No. 20 Texas, throttling the Longhorns 30-0—their first conference shutout since 1961—and virtually eliminating them from the SWC race.

Wyoming maintained its one-half game lead over Brigham Young in the Western Athletic Conference by nipping Arizona 26-24 while BYU outlasted Texas-El Paso 40-27 as Gifford Nielsen threw four touchdown passes and tied the WAC career mark of 23 in a season.

Rutgers stretched the nation's longest winning streak to 16 games by blanking Louisville 34-0 and Northwestern dropped its 15th in a row, losing to Minnesota 38-10.

'Bama-Irish in TV spotlight; Harvard is picked over Yale

By Major Amos B. Hoople
Peerless Prophet

Egad, friends, this is a weekend you'll long remember as Notre Dame and Alabama, Harvard — Yale, Arkansas — Texas A&M, Oklahoma and spoiler Missouri get together in the headline battles.

Alabama and Notre Dame have met just twice previously with the Irish taking both games by the grand total of three points. Notre Dame won in the 1973 Sugar Bowl, 24 — 23, and in the 1975 Orange Bowl, 13-11. Jove, you can't play them much closer than that.

And what about this year? Well, as the Hoople System sees it, it will be Notre Dame 21, Alabama 17, in another squeaker — kaff — kaff!

The Harvard — Yale contest, the 93rd in this long series between my alma mater Yale — Boola Boola — and John Harvard's lads, promises to be as thrilling as any of the storied games of yesteryear. And, alas, I have bad news for my fellow Yalies, the Crimson figures to win in the friendly confines of Harvard Stadium by a 26 — 24 count — harrumph!

Out in Fayetteville, the Arkansas Razorbacks will be rude hosts as they turn back Texas A&M 30 — 20. And in the Big Eight, we look for the Oklahoma Sooners to move up in the ratings by stopping the Missouri spoilers, 24 — 21.

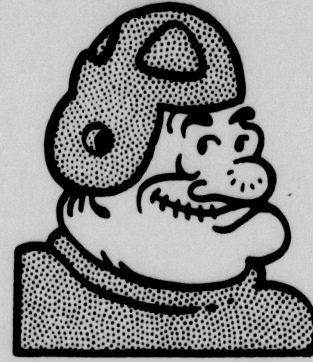

Elsewhere, in engagements worthy of your attention, Colgate will vanquish Army, 28 — 22; Georgia will take the measure of Auburn, 21 — 12; Florida will edge Kentucky, 21 — 14; Michigan will trounce Illinois, 42 — 14, and Ohio State will ship Minnesota, 26

— 21. Thus setting up the annual Ohio State — Michigan showdown next Saturday for the Big Ten crown and the Rose Bowl trip.

Out on the West Coast, UCLA and Southern California will tune up for their Nov. 20 showdown for the Pac Eight crown and Rose Bowl nomination by romping over league competition. We make it: UCLA 44 — Oregon State 12,

Hayti gridder is in a coma

MEMPHIS — Lloyd Harris, a 17-year-old Hayti football player, is in the intensive care unit of Methodist Hospital in Memphis today after collapsing on the sidelines of Friday night's game between Hayti and Doniphan at Doniphan.

The athlete had been participating in the game when he complained of leg cramps and was taken out of the game by coach Perry Gooch. He was seated along the sidelines when he collapsed.

Teammates said Harris had been holding his stomach just before collapsing.

Harris was taken to Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff, where physicians suspected that the injury might be an aneurism. He was transferred by ambulance to the Memphis hospital, where he has been in a coma since Friday night.

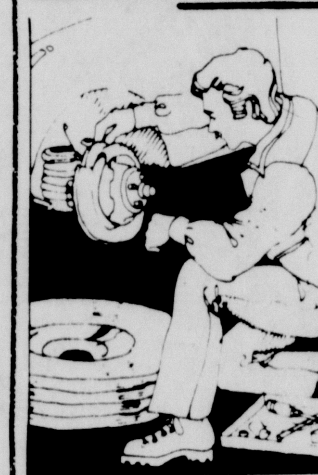

An aneurism is defined as a rupture or an abnormal dilation of a blood vessel, usually one which supplies blood to the brain.

Norman Nelson, principal of Hayti High School, said that it was not known whether Harris' injury was connected with football.

Nebraska on top of Big Eight pile

KANSAS CITY (AP) — "We're a long way from the Orange Bowl," said Nebraska Coach Tom Osborne. "But we're closer than we were last week."

Ork.: has once again returned to the topsy-turvy Big Eight Conference — at least for a few days.

Nebraska, forced to share first place with such unlikely companions as Colorado and Oklahoma State last week, now stands alone at the top and is the favorite in the bidding for the Orange Bowl berth that goes to the champion.

"I just think it would be a tremendous shame if we didn't go to the Orange Bowl," said Osborne after his Cornhuskers, 7-1-1 over-all and 4-1 in conference play, nipped Oklahoma State, 14-10, Saturday at Lincoln.

"We've got to go to Iowa State and play Oklahoma here. We're going to be fighting for our lives. Certainly this was a big one today."

Quarterback Vince Ferragamo was the big difference, pumping two touchdown passes to overcome Cowboy leads of 3-0 and 10-7. But the Cornhusker defense chipped in by holding Oklahoma State, 5-3 and 3-2, scoreless at the two late in the first half.

"Obviously we had some chances to win and failed," said Jim Stanley, the Cowboy Coach. "But I guess that's the Big Eight Conference."

"This game was just indicative of the type of league we have. It seems like there is a bowl game every week."

Missouri, Oklahoma and Iowa State kept alive their hopes of an outside shot at the title with victories. The Tigers used relief help from quarterback Pete Woods to shade Colorado, 16-7, while Oklahoma thumped Kansas State, 49-20, and Iowa State rolled to a 31-17 conquest of Kansas.

Woods directed the Tigers, 6-3 and 3-2, to a 63-yard touch-

No word on playoffs

Sikeston High School officials had not received official confirmation of the school's involvement in the Class 4-A State Football Playoffs as of 10:30 this morning.

Athletic Director Steve Borgsmiller said that no word has come yet from the MSHSAA down drive late in the third period to break a 7-7 deadlock with the Buffaloes, 6-3 and 3-2, and Tim Gibbons later booted a 19-yard field goal to put the game away.

Gun deer season is near

JEFFERSON CITY — Missouri gun deer hunters have their inning (and their outing) November 13-21 and if the archery season is any indication, the gun season should be a huge success.

Through the first month of the archery season, bowhunters took 1,235 deer or about the same as in the similar period in 1975 when gun hunters set a harvest record of 51,823 animals.

Regulations are somewhat more restrictive this season which should hold down the total bag, but the Missouri deer herd is in excellent condition.

Units One, Four, Seven and Ten will be bucks - only the entire season. Unit One is north-west Missouri, Four is west-central, Seven southwest and Ten the Bootheel. All units are bounded by major highways.

Units Two (north-central) and Three (northeast) will be bucks only November 13-19 and any-deer November 20-21. Units Five (central), Six (east-central), Nine(southeast) and Twelve (east-central along Missouri River) will be bucks - only with a quota on antlerless deer. Permits for antlerless deer already have been drawn for and issued.

Units Eight (central Ozarks) and Eleven (eastern Ozarks) will be bucks only November 13-19 and November 21, with one day of any deer hunting November 20.

The boundary between Units Four and Five has changed. The new Unit Four boundary will be the Kansas line on the west, I-70 Highway on the north, I-44 to the south and Highway 65 from I-70 south to Highway 52, then Highway 52 south to Highway 71, then Highway 71 south to I-44.

Shooting hours are 6:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Central Standard Time. The archery season is closed to bowhunters with a bow tag during the gun season, though they may hunt deer on a gun tag with their bows.

All deer must be tagged (farmers hunting under the farmer regulation must make a tag with their name, address and date), and all deer must be checked on the day taken either in the county where taken or an adjoining one.

DEER MANAGEMENT UNITS 1976

Pitt expected to be No. 1 team

AP Sports Writer

Top-rated Michigan's Bo Schembechler and also-ran Purdue's Alex Agase sounded like hundreds of other coaches before Saturday's game. As things turned out, they really sounded like prophets.

Xchembechler: "Of all the teams in the Big Ten capable of pulling an upset, I think Purdue is the one."

Agase: "Sometimes things happen when someone is going somewhere."

Well, a funny thing happened to Michigan en route to college football's national championship. The nation's highest scoring team, averaging 44 points a game, managed only two touchdowns against a Purdue club which had yielded 199 points in eight games and hadn't held anyone under 16. The final score — Purdue 16, Michigan 14 and Pitt probably No. 1.

Perhaps Purdue got its opponents mixed up. A week ago the Boilermakers were routed by Michigan State 45-13, then they came back and beat Michigan.

It was supposed to be the other way around, but Scott Dieking galloped for 162 yards and two touchdowns and Rock Supton booted a decisive 23-yard field goal with just over four minutes remaining in addition to making 11 tackles from his secondary post. Meanwhile, Michigan's Bob Wood misfired on a 37-yard attempt with nine seconds left. As ex-Michigan center Jerry Ford knows, close isn't good enough.

"It hurts a lot," Schembechler said. "We don't accept it...we shouldn't accept it...because we should have won. No defeat is good. We got down there at the end and we should have scored. But when you depend on winning on a forward pass or a field goal, you're in trouble."

"I'm not going to turn down the honor of being No. 1 if it comes our way. We have as much right to it as anyone else," Pitt Coach Johnny Majors said after the second-ranked Panthers whipped Army 37-7 behind Tony Dorsett's 212 yards and three touchdowns.

"You won't get me to answer that one," UCLA Coach Terry Donahue said after the third-ranked Bruins routed Oregon 46-0 with Wendell Tyler and James Brown each scoring twice. "But I will say that with Michigan getting beat, I would expect us to move up."

Fourth-ranked Southern Cal, minus injured Ricky Bell, the nation's leading rusher, walloped Stanford 48-24 as Vince Evans tied a school record with four touchdown passes, three to Shelton Diggins. The Trojans remained tied with UCLA for the Pacific-8 Conference lead.

Fifth-ranked Texas Tech opened a quick 14-0 lead over winless Texas Christian on an 88-yard pass play from Rodney Allison to Brian Nelson and Allison's three-yard run but then had to hang on to beat the upset-bent Horned Frogs 14-10. A late TCU threat stalled when Tech's Eric Felton intercepted a pass deep in his own territory.

However, Tech not only remained unbeaten but took over undisputed possession of the Southwest Conference lead when 12th-ranked Arkansas was held to a 7-7 standoff by Baylor.

Sixth-ranked Maryland held Cincinnati to four first downs in the first three periods and cruised to a 21-0 triumph behind Mark Manges' two touchdown passes.

The bowl picture cleared up a bit when seventh-ranked Georgia came from behind with four second-half touchdowns to beat No. 10 Florida 41-27 and tie the Gators for the Southeastern Conference lead. A victory over Auburn next week sends Georgia to the Sugar Bowl.

Ray Goff scored three touchdowns, two of them in the final period after Georgia rallied from a 27-13 halftime deficit to 27 tie. It was another frustration for Florida, which could have clinched its first-ever SEC crown.

The momentum swung Georgia's way when Florida failed on a fourth-and-one gamble at its own 29 midway through the third quarter. Georgia tied the score six plays later.

"We were not outplayed, we were outcoached," said Florida's Doug Dickey. "I made some of the dumbest calls I ever made. I gambled on fourth down because I thought we needed a mental lift to get started."

Eighth-ranked Ohio State snapped a Big Ten tie with Michigan by trouncing Illinois 42-10. Fullback Pete Johnson scored four times, giving him 53 career touchdowns, six short of the major college mark held by Army's Glenn Davis.

After a five-way tie two weeks ago, ninth-ranked Nebraska now leads the Big Eight. Vince Ferragamo brought the Cornhuskers from behind twice with scoring passes to Chuck Malito and Ken Spaeth to eke out a 14-10 decision over No. 13 Oklahoma State. The losers had been tied with Nebraska and No. 14 Colorado a 16-7 loser to No. 16 Missouri.

Notre Dame, ranked 11th,

blew a 14-3 and probably a trip to a major bowl, as well, by losing to Georgia Tech 23-14 on David Sims' second-half touchdown runs of 10 and 16 yards.

No. 15 Alabama, which always goes to a bowl, staked this year's claim by downing Louisiana State 28-17 on touchdown runs of 13 and 58 yards by Johnny Davis.

Thomas Lott rushed for 195 yards, most by an Oklahoma quarterback, and scored three times as the 17th-ranked Sooners drubbed Kansas State 49-20.

Texas A&M, No. 18, was idle but No. 19 Houston ended the 42-game home winning streak of No. 20 Texas, throttling the Longhorns 30-0—their first conference shutout since 1961—and virtually eliminating them from the SWC race.

Wyoming maintained its one-half game lead over Brigham Young in the Western Athletic Conference by nipping Arizona 26-24 while BYU outlasted Texas-El Paso 40-27 as Gifford Nielsen threw four touchdown passes and tied the WAC career mark of 23 in a season.

Rutgers stretched the nation's longest winning streak to 16 games by blanking Louisville 34-0 and Northwestern dropped its 15th in a row, losing to Minnesota 38-10.

'Bama-Irish in TV spotlight; Harvard is picked over Yale

By Major Amos B. Hoople
Peerless Prophet

Egad, friends, this is a weekend you'll long remember as Notre Dame and Alabama, Harvard — Yale, Arkansas — Texas A&M, Oklahoma and spoiler Missouri get together in the headline battles.

Alabama and Notre Dame have met just twice previously with the Irish taking both games by the grand total of three points. Notre Dame won in the 1973 Sugar Bowl, 24-23, and in the 1975 Orange Bowl, 13-11. Jove, you can't play them much closer than that.

And what about this year? Well, as the Hoople System sees it, it will be Notre Dame 21, Alabama 17, in another squeaker — kaff — kaff!

The Harvard — Yale contest, the 93rd in this long series between my alma mater Yale — Boola Boola — and John Harvard's lads, promises to be as thrilling as any of the storied games of yesteryear. And, alas, I have bad news for my fellow Yalies, the Crimson figures to win in the friendly confines of Harvard Stadium by a 26-24 count — harrumph!

Out in Fayetteville, the Arkansas Razorbacks will be rude hosts as they turn back Texas A&M 30-20. And in the Big Eight, we look for the Oklahoma Sooners to move up in the ratings by stopping the Missouri spoilers, 24-21.

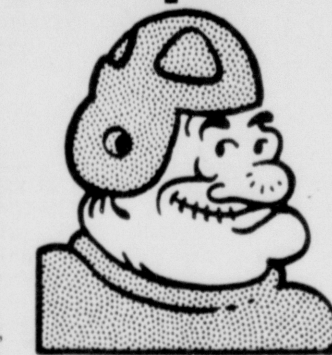

Elsewhere, in engagements worthy of your attention, Colgate will vanquish Army, 28-22; Georgia will take the measure of Auburn, 21-12; Florida will edge Kentucky, 21-14; Michigan will trounce Illinois, 42-14, and Ohio State will ship Minnesota, 26

— 21. Thus setting up the annual Ohio State — Michigan showdown next Saturday for the Big Ten crown and the Rose Bowl trip.

Today in U.S. history

By The Associated Press
Today is Monday, Nov. 8, the 313th day of 1976. There are 53 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1950, the first battle between jet airplanes took place as American fighters were attacked by North Korean MiGs in the Korean War.

In 1519, the Spanish conqueror, Hernando Cortez, reached Mexico city.

In 1864, Abraham Lincoln was re-elected President.

In 1889, Montana became the 41st state.

In 1923, Adolf Hitler's beer hall putsch failed in Munich.

In 1959, the United Arab Republic and the Sudan ended five years of negotiations by signing an agreement for the division of the Nile Valley waters.

In 1974, eight former Ohio National Guardsmen were acquitted of violating the rights of students in the 1970 demonstrations and killings at Kent State University.

Ten years ago: Florence, Italy appealed to the world for aid to salvage priceless art works damaged in devastating floods.

Five years ago: The vanguard of a Chinese Communist delegation was in New York to represent the Peking government at the United Nations for the first time.

One year ago: Communist China criticized the U.S. policy of détente with the Soviet Union and the dismissal of James Schlesinger as U.S. Secretary of Defense.

Today's birthdays: Actress Katharine Hepburn is 67. Singer Patti Page is 49.

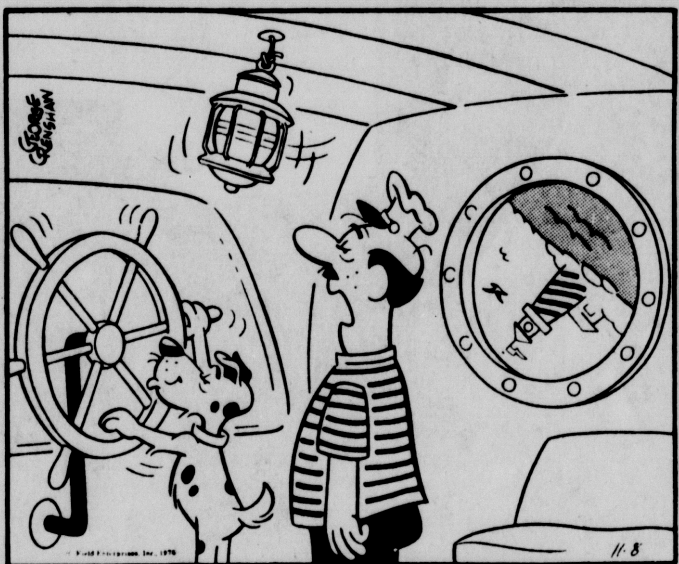

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, the American Indian Commissioner meeting with the six nations and four other tribes at Fort Pitt, Penn., reported that the Indians had given their assurance they would continue neutrality in the American Revolution.

Today in U.S. history

By The Associated Press
Today is Monday, Nov. 8, the 313th day of 1976. There are 53 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1950, the first battle between jet airplanes took place as American fighters were attacked by North Korean MiGs in the Korean War.

In 1519, the Spanish conqueror, Hernando Cortez, reached Mexico city.

In 1864, Abraham Lincoln was re-elected President.

In 1889, Montana became the 41st state.

In 1923, Adolf Hitler's beer hall putsch failed in Munich.

In 1959, the United Arab Republic and the Sudan ended five years of negotiations by signing an agreement for the division of the Nile Valley waters.

In 1974, eight former Ohio National Guardsmen were acquitted of violating the rights of students in the 1970 demonstrations and killings at Kent State University.

Ten years ago: Florence, Italy appealed to the world for aid to salvage priceless art works damaged in devastating floods.

Five years ago: The vanguard of a Chinese Communist delegation was in New York to represent the Peking government at the United Nations for the first time.

One year ago: Communist China criticized the U.S. policy of detente with the Soviet Union and the dismissal of James Schlesinger as U.S. Secretary of Defense.

Today's birthdays: Actress Katharine Hepburn is 67. Singer Patti Page is 49.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, the American Indian Commissioner meeting with the six nations and four other tribes at Fort Pitt, Penn., reported that the Indians had given their assurance they would continue neutrality in the American Revolution.

BALANCE OF POWER following West Germany's near-standoff election is held by Hans-Dietrich Genscher's Free Democrats. Genscher, declining an alliance offer from the Christian Democrats, declared the Free Democrats would stick with the Socialists, giving the coalition government in which he is a vice-chancellor and eight-seat edge in the Bundestag.
